The school's processing of personal data for you and your child:

The school registers the information for use in the administration of the teaching and passes the information on to public authorities etc. who have a legal claim to the information. The school deletes the information when the retention obligation has expired and any archiving requirement has been met. Once the information is archived or deleted, the school no longer has access to it.

Your rights c.f. the data protection regulation:

According to the data protection regulation, you have a number of rights in relation to the school's processing of the information about you and your child. If you want to use your rights, you must contact the school office.

- Right to see information (right of access)

You have the right to gain insight into the information that the school processes about you and your child, as well as a range of additional information.

- Right to rectification

You have the right to have incorrect information that the school processes about you and your child corrected. You also have the right to have your information supplemented with additional information if this will make your and your child's information more complete and/or up-to-date.

- Right to erasure

As the school is a public authority, the school will generally only be able to delete information about you and your child when the school is no longer obliged to store the information.

- Right to restriction of processing

In certain cases, you have the right to have the processing of your and your child's information limited. If you have the right to have the processing restricted, the school may in future only process the information - apart from storage - with your consent, or for the purpose of establishing, asserting or defending legal claims, or to protect a person or important public interests.

- Right to object

In certain cases, you have the right to object to the school's otherwise lawful processing of your and your child's personal data. However, this only applies if the school's processing is based on Article 6, paragraph 1 of the Data Protection Regulation. 1, letter e.

You can read more about your rights in the Data Protection Authority's guidance on the rights of data subjects, which you can find on www.datatilsynet.dk.

You can also read more about Solrød Municipality's general processing of personal data on <https://www.solrod.dk/kommunen/databeskyttelse>.
